

Collection Agency 2005 Small Business of the Year Runner Up

November 15, 2005

The Harrisburg Regional Chamber and the Capital Region Economic Development Corporation selected National Recovery Agency as won of the three finalist for this years small Business of the Year Award. Sheila J. Himes Head of Chamber Operations wrote to Steven C. Kusic President of NRA: "The list of the nominees was long and filled with exceptional regional companies. The selection and scoring process to determine the three finalists was rigorous and you should regard your designation as a finalist as a significant accomplishment, and a testament to the greatness of your organization." She also stated, "Congratulations again for your outstanding achievement."

The year 2005 has been a banner year for National Recovery Agency, NRA President Steven C. Kusic was selected this year from a worldwide nomination of candidates as "Young Guns 2005" by the CollectionIndustry.com, Central Penn Business Journal's "Forty under Forty" business leader, Collection Advisors - Collection Professions "Top 50 most influential" leaders in the nation. The highlight of his accomplishments was the cover story article in Collection Advisor Magazine's September/October 2005 issue.

NRA has been successful in its efforts to move to the next level. Its SMART Corporate Plan and Vision 2010 are NRA's guiding light into the future. NRA today is considered as one of the more progressive and trend setting agencies in the revenue recovery industry. NRA has experienced unprecedented growth over the past 21 months and seems to continue the momentum well into 2006.